Mr. Ismael Biography

Mr. Ismael was born in 1969 in Bethany, a city in Jerusalem. He has many brothers and sisters, and is the middle child. When he was young his life wasn't easy. His family struggled financially. As a kid he did not have any pets, but he did take care of some animals. It was part of his family's business; he mainly took care of sheep and donkeys. As a child he enjoyed playing with other kids in his free time. He also made his own toys like slingshots. He also enjoyed playing with his friends. His friends would always get him in trouble. Mr. Ismael would only bring friends over when his mom would let him. His father was a very tough man and would not ask him permission

Mr. Ismael has many people whom he admires. One of is Isaac Newton, an English physicist, mathematician, astronomer, natural philosopher, alchemist, and theologian. As well as Albert Einstein a theoretical physicist who invented the theory of E=MC^2. As well as Max Planck, some know him as the father of quantum mechanics. These men all have great minds and inspired this man. He looked up to them and saw how great they were and knew that he wanted to be like them. So to this day he teaches the course of science and mathematics.

Mr. Ismael loves food, especially if its spicy food. He likes action and animation movies, and dislikes romance movies. In his lifetime he doesn't have many regrets except for his job career. He would like to change it to a higher paying job. He has also lived through many historical events. Huge impacting ones like the collapse of the Soviet Union, the British Hong Kong, and more.

In present day he teaches math and science at Information Technology High School. He has a family with kids and lives a good life. One thing he is proud of is his kids. He says he feels powerful, but other than that

Kevin Castillo Digital Design